AgriCoat NatureSeal® expanding fresh cut banana options

Hungerford, England (September 20, 2016) AgriCoat NatureSeal Ltd., a pioneer and industry leader in fresh-cut produce shelf life extension and technology, has been making great strides with its fresh banana products. This line of products, developed to increase the shelf life of peeled and cut bananas, has been used by processors in the U.S for over eight years.

More recently, there has been a demand for prepared bananas in supermarkets throughout the UK and Europe. The newest addition to the banana product line, BA-1, is being frequently requested by processors in these areas. Sliced bananas are now available packaged as a single item as well as an inclusion in fruit cups and parfaits.

After a dip in one of our banana formulations, this extremely popular fruit remains looking and tasting just sliced long after cutting. Processors now have the increased shelf life necessary to bring products to market with the appeal needed for consumer purchase.
